Upcoming Events Announced for the Alcohol and Drug Program

8 Nov 1984 Wave

On November 28 the Alcohol and Drug Prevention and Treatment office will be starting our Youth meetings from 3:00 to 5:00 every Wednesday. If you feel like you need some information about the dangers of drugs or just need someone to talk to about peer pressure and problems at school, please come and talk with us in a group session.

We would like to invite all parents to join our parent support group. We will be talking about preventive measures with drugs and alcohol and give support to those who are having trouble with their children. The class will be starting November 29 from 7:00 to 8:00. If you have any problems with the holiday blues come visit and share your feelings so we can make it a happy holiday season for all.

We will be holding a workshop on Keys to help the Aging at the Senior Citizen's Center on November 29 from 1:00 to 4:00. We will be touching on self esteem and some sitting exercises to help everyone keep fit and feel better. There will be some guidelines given on the use of medication and how to communicate with your doctor.

PTA Concerned With Alcohol, Student Attendance, and Teachers

Wave 7 Feb 1985

Wasatch High School (LRJ)
Mrs. Donna Davies, President, Utah Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., has released her organization's Legislative Packet for the 1984-85 Legislative Session.

Indicated in its list of priority concerns was excellence in education as number one. The PTA "supports legislation designed to achieve (it) and to make education reform and financial support a high priority." To do that it proposes increased attractiveness of teaching careers by recognizing and rewarding the dedicated and competent teachers who presently constitute the majority of public educators. The PTA holds a support position for a positive public image of esteem for those in the educational profession and encourages high quality students to enter the profession by supporting adequate funding of teachers' salaries.

The PTA further asks for adequate funding to reduce class size and petitions for continued expansion of productivity projects by getting maximum use of education's dollars and facilities.

It wants to raise the achievement level of students in basic skills through better use of school time and by improving the quality of instruction in public and higher education.

Another priority concern of the PTA is law concerning the sale and use of alcoholic beverages. It supports legislation requiring picture, identification for purchase of all alcoholic beverages and presses for awareness of negative effects of selling those beverages where motor fuel is sold. The PTA asks for stringent laws and penalties concerning driving under the influence of alcohol. It would require the display of signs, indicating penalties for selling alcoholic beverages to minors, in all establishments that engage in the sale of those beverages.

Another priority concern of the PTA is the repeal of the 1983 legislation governing the sale of fireworks and the reinstatement of the prior code, Section 11-3-5, Chapter 27.

The rationale is that the PTA "works to promote the welfare and secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth in home, school, and community." It cites that after the relaxation of the former code there were "402 firework caused fires reported in 1983 as opposed to 245 in 1982. More than half of the 402 fires were caused by illegal fireworks."

Also reported were 1000 percent more injuries in 1983, and 56 percent of the injured were between 0-16 years of age.

It claimed also that 85 percent of fireworks-caused injuries were to eyes, fingers, face and head, and 60 percent of the injuries were second and third degree burns.

Other Utah State PTA legislative studies and on-going concerns are: continued support for handicapped education; establishment of a national or state clearing house for missing children and support of laws concerning children abuse and neglect; restriction of the sale of drug paraphernalia; laws for governing smaller motor vehicles; standardization of school-age entry date; mandatory and supported kindergartens; establish legal responsibility for children before and after school; and clarification of legal responsibility of schools and parents during emergencies.

Other protection asked for are paid, adult crossing guards. The PTA also asks for compulsory school attendance to age 18. It supports the use of infant carriers and child car safety seats, safe sidewalks, and regulated cable TV to protect children from pornographic and indecent materials.

Other concerns are school district consolidation and disallowance of support vouchers and tax credits for tuition paid to private schools.

Drug Abuse a

Community Problem

Wade 14 Feb 1985

Steps were recently taken by the Wasatch County Alcohol and Drug Abuse Center, along with area representatives of the Utah Federation for Drug Free Youth, to organize a local chapter to help youths deal with drugs.

The meeting was sparsely attended, and those who were in attendance receive valuable instruction of the situation which is facing the youth of our communities.

Regional Director Beverly Prince, pointed out the important of the Federation, and how having such a chapter can educate the youth before they experiment with the drugs.

We commend those people who have participated in the meetings, and hope that they will continue to work for the prevention of drug addiction for our youth. Their efforts should be beneficial to the entire community.

We would hope that all parents would recognize the threat of drug abuse in our county, and come to meetings that are exploring ways of dealing with trouble youth. It is a community problem, not one for certain parents. It takes an entire population to overcome the abuse and experimentation of drugs and alcohol.

Workshop on Drug Abuse Set

14 Feb 1985

The Utah Federation for Drug-Free youth is sponsoring a training workshop Feb. 15, 1985 at the Hillcrest High School in Salt Lake City. All are invited to attend especially PTA members, city and county commissioners, school professionals and all parents and interested youths. An all day workshop beginning at 8 a.m. will tell how communities can be involved in identifying problems and needs in the area of education, prevention, intervention, treatment and after-care of substance abuse and developing strategies for solving these problems and meeting those needs.

James F. Crowley will be conducting the workshop. He is pres. of Community Intervention, Inc., and authored "Alliance for Change." He was formerly a teacher and has been an administrator and consultant in the field of chemical dependency. He presents an action that has been powerfully effective in communities across the country to work together for change on teenage substance abuse.

Saturday, Feb. 16, 1985 the Utah Federation will hold its 1st Annual Conference on Drug Abuse. It will begin at 9 a.m. at the Union Middle School in Salt Lake City. Speakers will be Mrs. Colleen Bangerter, Dr. Stephen Glenn and Walter Hollins. Mrs. Bangerter is the wife of Utah's governor, Norman Bangerter and is the Honorary Chairman of the Utah Federation.

Dr. Stephen Glenn has been a consultant on Education, training, alcoholism, and drug abuse to local, state and federal agencies throughout the U.S. and has served as Director of the National Drug Abuse Center for Training and Resource Development in Washington D.C. He is acknowledged for his "Developing Capable Young People," and award winning educational television series on the family called "Involved." He is presently a member of the Board of Directors of the Nati. Congress of PTA and serves on the Education Commission.

Walter Hollins is currently Director of Training, for the U.S. Department of Education, Center for Educational Development in the Southwest Region. He ws the former Coordinator, of Central City Neighborhood Service Center for low-income residents in Louisiana, and a counselor for high school dropouts with the Dept. of Labor.

Alcohol and drug films will be shown throughout the day and display booths will provide information on substances abused. There will be a $6.00 charge but this will include a box lunch. For more information please call our local Drug Prevention Center, at 654-3003. Please plan to attend.
